The 10th Anniversary of Cieszyn Castle

Ten years ago, in the little town of Cieszyn with its 35,000 inhabitants, on the Polish-Czech border, the Cieszyn Castle began its mission (initially called the Silesian Castle of Art and Enterprise). This was an unusual entrepreneurship center, promoting design and providing access to it, but also safeguarding and popularizing craftsmanship. A group of people met at the right place and time, combining a joint idea and consistency in bringing it about. As a result, for the past decade the castle has been bridging people, communities, ideas, project partners... It inspires, provides knowledge and tools, and the courage to take up challenges and bring about change. We have no ready-made prescriptions or responses to many questions. But one thing is certain: We design opportunities!
